A correction: In this column last week appeared two accounts of the total score made by the High School basketball team. The second of the two is correct.

SPORT NOTES

Now that the league series is finished comparative quiet reigns in the basketball quarters. We are all confident however, that though we still have to play the Victoria High School at Edmonton, the Dupleiss Cup will be of small use to any but us.

ABOUT THE SCHOOL

The Basketball team enjoyed themselves at a chicken supper last Saturday evening. We're glad that they did not have to play a game Sunday.

The Freshies have decorated their room with a beautiful purple and white banner. We only hope they all survive the ordeal of defending it.

Grade XII gave Literary last Friday. In spite of several difficulties the time passed and valentines were distributed from the hastily decorated box.

DIRGE FOR ST. VALENTINE
Valentine is sposed to be
A day of joy and revelry,
But we have found it sad but true,
The day is sometimes rather blue:
The program sheet a blank appears,
The president comes out in tears,
The paste won't stick,
The paper tears,
The paste is stuck on desk and chairs.

And when to stretch the program out,

We call on those from round about,
To talk to us, or sing a song,
They run and leave us
Were we wrong?

But programs end, as songs must do

And we were glad and so are you.
Do not be alarmed people, its only the after affects of writing valentine verses.

NOTICE

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! We have reason to believe that to many in the district the following will be news:— Because a person goes to High School it does not necessarily follow he shall become a school teacher. In fact we know several men notable in line other than teaching, who have never regretted, and have actually used their High School training.

T. Geo. Wood, District Manager of the Canadian Sugar Factories Ltd. was chosen Pres. of the Lethbridge Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers Association at their annual meeting held recently.

FAMOUS RECORD AND RADIO STARS NOW IN TALKIES

MORAN AND MACK, the 2 BLACK CROWS, MAKE INITIAL TALKING PICTURE APPEARANCE

Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows, now add to their phonograph and radio fame by making their first screen appearance in Paramount's all talking comedy "Why Bring That Up?" a rapid fire story of the vaudeville stage introducing many of the numbers that they have recorded. In addition to these they present many new Moranisms and Mackites.

"Why Bring That Up?" is from an original story by Octavus Roy Cohen, the famous author of negro stories.

In the picture you see Moran meeting Mack, the forming of the famous team—their struggle for recognition and you climb with them to success. They show you just how they make up their funny patter and best of all you see them in real life as well as black face, doing their ribcracking dialect.

Moran and Mack, the two Black Crows, have the backing of an elaborate musical show, in the final scenes of their opus. A dazzling array of stage talent! "Why Bring That Up?" is real, you fairly feel every situation and they are all of such character, just like their records, that a child of eight years can fully understand. "Why Bring That Up?" is the all talking feature at the Capitol theatre, this week. In the east are also Evelyn Brent and Harry Green.

GOVERNMENT ACTION DISTURBS BUSINESS OF STOCK BROKERS

Ottawa Feb. 20. (Special to the Recorder)—The rampant prosperity of the stock brokerage fraternity throughout Canada, which was seriously jolted by the October-November market panic, has been further undermined by the activities of the Albert and Ontario Governments and by the promise that the Federal Parliament will also take up "wildcatting" and "bucketing" at the coming session.

In the past five years probably no industry in Canada has flourished like the brokerage business. The population went "speculatively mad." Almost over night they blossomed forth as incipient or actual millionaires. Hundreds of them were not even members of an exchange but they stretched telegraph wires hundreds and sometimes thousands of miles and became agents for someone who was a member.

Of course, there were already hundreds of brokers who were members of an exchange, hundreds who for many years had been legitimately carrying on their business and well satisfied with a five or ten thousand dollar income. And probably the great majority of the new graduates into the industry followed the rules meticulously; but in their wild stampede for unearned wealth the public did not differentiate. Everything was going up and almost anybody's advice on what to buy was profitable. It was hard to pick a loser.

The day came—last October—when conditions changed. It was hard to save anything from the wreck. People, through the halcyon days, had left their real or imaginary certificates with their brokers, content simply to drop around now and then and take a check for a few thousand; to pay for a new automobile or similar necessity. But when the crash came folks demanded their certificates. They would at least be sovereigns of financial independence. With the crash also came belated official recognition of the fact that the whole enterprise should have been more carefully supervised. A natural corollary of the boom was an epidemic of promotions of undeveloped prospects, mineral, manufacturing, ad infinitum.

Now in the cold grey dawn of the morning after a post mortem examination and several inquests are being held and more are promised. From the conservative single stand broker to the one with offices dotted across the country like chain grocery stores the reaction in dollars and cents is a headache. The speculative frenzy died of strangulation last November. Now come inquiries, prosecutions and promises of restrictive legislation to further undermine the confidence of those who still have a few dollars left and would like to recoup.

High drying winds prevailed on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

BUSINESS SUMMARY

PRAIRIE PROVINCES—Manufacturing is seasonally normal. Wholesale and retailers are experiencing the usual quiet period following Christmas. The volume of trade is lower than that of last year. Collections are slow to fair. Cash wheat on the 20th Jan. closed at 128½ as compared with 122¼ a year ago; owing to intermittent foreign demand the market has been erratic. Export business continues dull and prices have gradually declined since the beginning of the year. The cattle market has been active following a period of slow trade. The demand for butcher steers is much improved, but only inferior quality animals are available. The hog market is steady with prices up 75c. An estimate of contracts awarded in the three Prairie Provinces for 1929 shows a total for Alberta. The value of the output for 1928.—Bank of Montreal.

Sudden Death Game Soon on Neutral Floor for Seniors

Raymond basketball players upheld their reputation on Wednesday evening when the "Idlers" took the Glenwood Intermediates into camp to the tune of 96-28, and the "Union Jacks" handed the Lethbridge "Aces" a 45-28 defeat before one of the biggest crowds ever assembled in the Opera House for a basketball evening.

The first game was between the "Idlers" and the Glenwood boys, and was a good game, clean from fouls and any rough stuff, and while the "Idlers" were too speedy for the visitors, they played ball for the full time, only 15 fouls being called during the game.

Raymond's forward line, Kenney, Kirkham and O'Brien unworked a lightning brand of passing and combination that had the visitors dazed and a good many baskets rolled in from the tip off without a Glenwood man touching it. We do not say this in belittlement of Glenwood's players, but those three players on the forward line were nearly always sure of a score when they got the ball and that was plenty often.

Earl Zemp and U. Nalder handled the game. There will be plenty of interest when the "Idlers" and the Lethbridge "Deuces" play off at Lethbridge Monday night and here Wednesday night of next week. Everybody will be there.

The lineup and points follows:—

Glenwood	"Idlers"
O. Leavitt 5	Kirkham 42
G. Leavitt 4	O'Brien 17
J. Prince 2	Hawkins 4
R. Leavitt 15	Kenny 22
H. Leavitt 2	Strong 8
O. Dohne 0	Fairbanks 2
W. Leavitt 0	Hague 1
Total 28	96

"ACES" AND "JACKS" ROUGH IT

In the second game both teams were out to win of course this was impossible. The first half, was good clean ball, and a pleasure to watch, the score being 31-23. In the second frame the game switched over from Basketball to Rugby and the players pulled everything but hair and teeth. We would not attempt to say who started the roughing it, but it worked both ways, and the enjoyment of the evening was more or less overshadowed by that last half. The "Jacks" took the bumps and scored nearly three to one during the second spasm. The "Jacks" getting 14 while the "Aces" got 5. The breaks were about even, and while of course the referee took 14 fouls were called on Lethbridge and 10 on Raymond, and 2 players on each side were ruled off for fouls.

The play off has not been decided upon as yet.

K. Stone and F. Weaver handled this game.

The line up and points were:—

"ACES"
Howard	16
Reidley	3
Sinclair	6
Mitchell	0
McKillop	1
Dualop	2
VanDeRue	x
Green	0
Total	28

Three boxing bouts between seniors furnished plenty of gore and excitement.

People were present from nearly all over Southern Alberta to watch the game.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Walton left early this week for Los Angeles Cal., to visit with Mr. Walton's mother who is ill.

"M" Men --- Gleaners Banquet Huge Success

One of the outstanding social successes of the season was the "M" Men—Gleaner Girls Banquet, of the 17th Raymond Ward, held at the Opera House last Friday evening, preceding the Valentine Ball.

Between 130 and 140 were served to a repast of delicious "eats" that will be remembered for a long while. Place cards each carried a verse of poetry, the fortune of the individual, and the favors were Valentine hearts backed with afterdinner mints.

The good things defy description, and we will pass it up by simply saying that it was worth double the price and we would like to see one staged oftener.

Solon Low was Master of Ceremonies, and a short, spicy program was rendered during the banquet, during which the Class Presidents of the "M" Men and Gleaner Girls of the two wards were introduced.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the splendid spirit of co-operation and friendliness that characterized the preparations and the serving of the evening.

That the aim of the class work in preparing the young men and women for lines of usefulness, is being realized, probably better than we know, was well demonstrated Friday evening.

Council Committees Named

The main business at the Council Meeting on Monday evening was the appointment of Town Officials and reorganization of the Council Committees.

The Committees for the year are as follows:—
Finance—Messrs. Meeks, Meldrum and Lamb.
Works and Property—Messrs. Redd, Lamb and Zobel.
Licence and Police—Lamb Meldrum

and Meeks:

Health and Relief—Meldrum, Paris and Zobel.

Water works—Paris, Zobel and Redd.

Appointments of town officials at the meeting were:—

C. H. Snow, Sec.—Treas.

R. A. Snowman, Chief of Police.

Sam Dyson, Supt. of Waterworks.

The usual bills were passed for payment.

The Week at Edmonton

The Legislature in the second week of the session are getting down to hard work and evening sittings are announced for next week. Two main subjects have occupied the members during the last five days; on Monday the Premier moved the second reading of the Natural Resources Bill in a speech of one and a half hours; duration; and on Tuesday the Provincial Treasurer, the Hon. R. G. Reid brought down his ninth annual budget.

The Premier dealt fully with the whole matter of the transfer of the natural resources to the province. The natural transfer will require an immense amount of clerical work but since the Manitoba government expects its resources in time for the celebration of the 60th anniversary of the province this July, Alberta should receive hers by then. Mr. Brownlee gave a sketch of the whole history of the negotiations which began practically with the establishment of the province in 1905. In 1913 and again in 1925, settlement seemed near but failed over the question of subsidy. The present agreement provides for the payment of annual subsidies increasing to $1,125,000 in perpetuity, and for consideration of additional claims for lands given to railway. The agreement involves the transfer of approximately 100,000,000 acres of land, including forest reserves, coal lands, tar sands, and petroleum rights. Of the total 87,899,000 acres of surveyed land in the province, 15,000,000 have not yet been alienated. Of the remaining 73,982,000 acres unsurveyed much is valuable for farm land as well as for other purposes. The transfer involves handing over approximately $10,000,000 in school lands and there are no strings attached. The National Parks less 1,089 square miles, remain under Federal control, as do the Indian Reservations. This is the best arrangement for the province as the Dominion Government is spending large sums on these playgrounds thus attracting great numbers of tourists to the province. The debate on the bill will probably begin on February 17.

In his budget speech the Provincial Treasurer estimated that with no new taxes and no reductions the fiscal year ending Mar. 31, 1931 will show a surplus of $73,741 as compared with an actual surplus of $1,817,871 for the year ending Mar. 31, 1929. No figures are given for the present year ending Mar. 31, 1930 but a small surplus was budgeted last session. Without increasing taxes it is expected the revenue will increase by $1,842,603 to make a total of $17,107,686 to cover a total expenditure of $17,061,336, an increase of $3,375,070. The extra money will be spent for general expansion: Old Age Pension will require twice as much, and more is to be spent on highways and public works. Large borrowings will have to be made during the year $1,975,000 for telephones; $3,799,534 for public works; while $4,000,000 will be required to retire maturing loans. The gross debt now stands at $99,512,343 but there is a reserve fund of $4,351,102 and $33,500 of the debt is self-sustaining.

A total of $5,250,000 will be spent on roads in 1930. Of this sum $2,000,000 will be spent on construction of highways and $960,000 on their upkeep. Construction and maintenance of district highways, secondary highways bridges and ferries will absorb the remainder.

The Liberals and the Conservatives attack the budget because taxes are not to be reduced. The Labor members since they demand increased expenditure for social service feel that they cannot consistently ask for tax cuts. For that reason Labor lined up with the government to defeat the motion of G. H. Webster, Liberal (Calgary) for abolition or reduction of the Supplementary Revenue Tax, by 46-9.

The Liberals demanded further that

Fascinating Links In Canada's History

Ottawa, Feb. 20. (Special to the Recorder)—Recent visitors abroad tell, as one of the interesting bits of a tour, of the visit through Windsor Castle. There the visitors are allowed to roam through all the private rooms of Their Majesties' palace and this privilege is availed of by nearly every Canadian tourist. One of the remarkable pieces on display at Windsor Castle is the Queen's Doll House which was presented her in 1924 by the people of Canada.

The doll house is enclosed behind a railing, and is in a glass case, with one side open so that the visitors may view the many marvels of the house. It is 8 feet long and five feet high. People of Canada are especially interested in the doll house, because when it was presented to Queen Mary a few of the accessories had been made a trifle too large for accommodation in the house and in the neighborhood of sixty articles were sent to the Dominion Archives at Ottawa. In Ottawa they are enclosed in a case and behind the case are pictures of the doll house.

It is a masterpiece of miniature realism and includes bedrooms, bath rooms, with hot and cold running water, nurseries, garage library, dining room and kitchen all furnished and decorated in most perfect taste. There are 30 rooms and over 1500 leading artists, authors and craftsmen lavished time and care on the countless treasures contained. In the sloping roof of the house 3,800 tiny old Delabole slates were used which had been quarried in North Cornwall. The house is perfect in every detail. The elevators are in running order, there is electricity and the piano and sewing machine all are in order. The grand piano in the drawing room is a masterpiece and on account of the tiny parts which only a fairy could play, cost more than an ordinary grand piano.

In the library are 200 miniature volumes to which 170 authors contributed. In the King's bedroom is a portrait of Princess Mary painted by Ambrose McEvoy. There are 760 miniature water colorings, etchings and drawings.

To one who had not the privilege of seeing the Doll's house when it was in Canada, it is enlightenment to see the parts which have been given Canada. There are two tiny jars containing strawberry jam and marmalade, which are so small that a magnifying glass has to be used to see what they contain. Then there is a checker board, a silver tea service, a toilet set, an ink stand, blotter, pencil and scissors, an umbrella stand containing six miniature parasols, a Bible, powder puff, soap dish, atomizer and lamp.

These articles should be seen by anyone who visits the Archives to view the treasures which are contained therein.

Quite a lot of cinders are being put on Broadway in front of the stores.

"THE DANCE OF LIFE" AT THE CAPITOL THEATRE NEXT WEEK

At popular prices, "The Dance of Life," a dancing-singing revue with scenes in dazzling Technicolor, with the famous stage star HAL SKELLY and screen favorite NANCY CARROLL, and a Broadway beauty chorus of 100. Paramount's wonder-picture from the stage hit of hits "BURLESQUE." ALL-STAR! ALL-TALKING!

"KITING" TO BE COSTLY

Ottawa, Feb. 19 (Special to the Recorder)—Ottawa banks decided to make a charge of fifty cents each for all cheques returned "N.S.F.", at their 29th annual meeting held in the city for the election of officers and the transaction of Clearing House Association business. Bank clearings for the city reached their highest total in the history of the city during 1929, when they totalled $443,894,842. At the same time there was a large increase in the number of cheques drawn against accounts without sufficient funds; hence the new ruling.

THE RAYMOND A. C.

The Raymond School of Agriculture will soon be closing another term. One of the most, if not the most successful in its history, with the enrollment reaching 95 before the Christmas holidays. With the completion of the term, the members of the staff will be wondering whether or not the School will be operated again next year, and therein lies the tragedy of the present attitude of the Government; it is indefinite, and the maximum results are impossible.

This year's enrollment and the record of staff and students should be enough to cause the Department of Agriculture to know, and to cease guessing as to whether or not we want a school here. There may have been years when the enrollment was not very heavy, but those were years of practically total crop failures, and all districts have them. This district is coming to the front, population is increasing, and the facilities here for the study of irrigation and local problems, are things we need badly to help the youth of the land who will be our leading farmers of the immediate future.

We maintain that we are entitled to all the advantages that other districts receive in education, and if the Department compel the closing of the Raymond School it will be against the wishes of every resident, and against a record that speaks for itself as to the interest we have in the education of the youth.

What has Southern Alberta done that neither School south of Calgary has a dormitory? Is Northern Alberta more valuable to the Province than the Southern part. And in face of lack of permanency, lack of dormitory facilities, and a year to year program, our record has been very good, having the largest percentage of resident population enrolled.

Would not the past record justify the building of a dormitory, one wing a year, the erection of a couple of residences, the supplying of sewerage facilities and the element of permanency for a period of years, and then give Raymond and the South a chance to over crowd the school each year.

We understand also that there is supposed to be an Advisory Council for each school to provide democratic support and supervision. Why have we not had one?

To talk of closing the school, in face of this lack of facilities, seems to us to be taking judgment of an issue that has never been given a fair trial.

Let's work to the end of getting a definite statement as to permanency for at least a given number of years, and get the benefit from the money already expended that we should be receiving.

WATCH YOUR WEIGHT

The food taken into the body is used either as a source of energy or for tissue building. In order that it may be available for such purposes, the food, as taken passes through a series of chemical changes which we call digestion following which it is assimilated in the tissues. It is then available for use as energy. Energy is required to move the muscles; it is also needed to keep the various organs of the body in operation, and, in addition it is required to maintain the heat of the body. In order to meet the body needs for energy and also to provide for growth and the replacement of worn-out tissue, a certain amount of food is required. If sufficient food is not taken, the body functions below par, and if an excess over the amount required is taken it is stored up as fat. Outside of those cases where there is disease which upsets certain glands whose internal secretions have some control over nutrition, the putting on of weight means that more food is being eaten than is required.

The amount of food required by different individuals varies a great deal. The growing school child requires about as much as an adult, because not only is the child active but he is growing. Those individuals whose occupations call for vigorous use of the muscles require more food than do those who sit most of the day. Even among those of similar activity, there is a difference one person normally using more food to keep his body going than another. By keeping watch on your weight, you can soon learn if you are eating more than you need. Weight that gradually increases over the normal taking into consideration age, sex and height is an indication that the food intake should be reduced. It is much easier to avoid overweight than it is to reduce after the excessive pounds have been added on.

It is a good plan to watch you weight. It is not suggested that you live by one eye on the weight scale but a check-up once a month is advisable in order to note any sudden loss of weight and to guard against increasing weight after the age of forty, neither of which is desired from the health standpoint.

Mrs. Rhoda A. May of Cardston is visiting in Raymond a few days.

Can. Pacific President Declares Faith in Canada; Based on Fine Progress

E. W. Beatty tells delegates to Canadian Industrial Traffic League that "end is not yet" although this railway has spent $386,000,000 in past decade in improvements, new railway facilities, new hotels, new ocean fleets leading to deeper pride and patriotism in the Dominion.

E. W. Beatty.

President of the members of the Canadian Industrial Traffic League at their banquet in Montreal recently. With the filling up of this country and the advancement of its commerce, not only will new construction and new territory be required, but vastly enlarged and improved facilities in the older districts will be needed because they will be outgrown by the needs of the communities for which they are provided," he emphasized when pointing his faith in the future of Canada and when urging upon his hearers and upon all other business men a "sympathetic regard for our needs and an accurate appreciation of what we have done and are endeavouring to do."

Declaring that the policy of the Canadian Pacific Railway was one of faith in Canada and intelligent self interest, Mr. Beatty supported his statements with a series of graphic and deeply interesting figures. This policy, he said, has resulted in capital expenditure of more than $386,000,000 during the past decade; improvements and new construction which provided Canada not only with improved railway facilities but with new hotels, new ocean fleets and with a deeper pride and patriotism in the Dominion as witnessed by the nation-wide response to the influence and appeal of the music festivals held in cities from coast to coast, which festivals, he emphasized, made a substantial contribution to the cultural life of this country and to its solidarity as a nation.

Railway problems, Mr. Beatty continued, were no longer the problems of the railway operator, directors and shareholders exclusively. More and more the transportation companies were taking the business man generally and the public at large into their confidence in order that they could appreciate railway problems and in turn give their intelligent support to the transportation companies. The companies have three functions to perform: to supply adequate service at reasonable cost; sufficient facilities to meet the needs of commerce, and to extend and construct ahead of settlement in order that additional development may take place. These factors, he said, require adequate compensation for the service they render and adequate credit to provide new moneys for new enterprises. It was true that the Canadian Pacific was earning and paying seven per cent on capital stock from railway earnings, but more was required in order to create reserve necessary for annual capital expenditures or part of them. Members of the Canadian Industrial Traffic League would appreciate the fact of a company which had to borrow everything it spent.

Conditions in Canada during the latter part of 1929 resulting from the decrease in the western grain crop caused a serious decrease in railway earnings, but the decrease represented the result of an extraordinary combination of circumstances. The railways had not failed in efficiency nor had the country suffered from anything approaching a general depression. It was not a condition to give much ground for apprehension and the situation of 1929 was not likely to be repeated in subsequent years.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Beatty said, had a peculiarly national significance in that 97 per cent of all its investments in rail, steamship, hotels, telegraphs and other activities was in Canada, and from the day of its inception its policies have been dictated by faith in Canada and by intelligent self interest. "I do not know of any combination of factors which tend more towards commercial supremacy than a combination of national sentiment, a sense of public duty and unremitting striving for efficiency, in order that the solvency of the undertaking may never be questioned and that its owners may be adequately rewarded," the president declared when emphasizing that the Canadian Pacific was outstanding in these factors.

Improvements in physical conditions, construction of new lines and facilities is one way by which a corporation can show its faith and also its leadership," Mr. Beatty continued. "The Canadian Pacific in the past ten years has spent millions of dollars on capital account in connection with railways, it has done many things which represent a notable contribution, not only to its own facilities but to the communities in which its operations are conducted. In that short period of time, it has rock-balled over 2,000 miles of railway, it has increased the weight of rail and has block-signalled over 1,300 miles; also it has increased its rail mileage by almost 2,500 miles, which a few years ago would have been considered a considerable system in itself. It has built at Vancouver one of the most modern piers in the world for ocean and coastal freight and passenger service. It has completed construction and lining of the great Connaught Tunnel in the Selkirk Mountains at a cost of more than eight million dollars. It has borne its share of the cost of the great viaduct in Toronto. It has spent millions of dollars in enlarging, modernizing and strengthening its bridges and it has made the most conspicuous development through the efforts of Canadian engineers in designing and constructing the largest and most powerful locomotives in the British Empire.

The value of the Canadian Pacific as a good citizen was pointed out by the railway President. For many years, and particularly since the war the Canadian Pacific and many other companies have endeavored to associate themselves with, and support many community movements and to assist hospitals and educational movements. The rules which applied to individual good citizenship also applied to corporations.

It was a frequent and logical complaint of railways in the United States that they were heavily taxed, and that this taxation was almost crippling in its effect. There was no disputing the correctness of that statement insofar as many railways were concerned, but he would willingly assume their taxes if he could be assured of their rates. One railway of Canada, however, did not escape heavy taxation. In 1913 the Canadian Pacific's total tax bill was $1,382,000. In 1928 it was $8,038,178, an increase of 482 per cent. This sum represented taxes at the rate of $21,962 per day, $915 per hour, $15.25 per minute or 25½ cents per second. The company, he emphasized, was making a very substantial contribution to the Government of the country. The daily payroll of the Canadian Pacific was $267,000, its daily disbursement for material and supplies was $220,000, and its daily tax bill $21,000. These figures indicated the contribution to day by day business and applying the same basis to the total expenditure of all railways in Canada last year developed the fact that the total sum disbursed exceeded $600,000,000, or a little more than $50 for every man, woman and child in the country.

U. F. W. A. MEETING

The U.F.W.A. held their regular meeting Thursday Feb 6 at the home of vice-president Alice Larsen. The entire time was taken up by Mrs. Phoebe Evans in reporting the U.F.A. convention held in Calgary. Mrs. Evans stated that it was the largest convention in point of numbers and the best from information and spirit received of any she had attended. The report given on the new educational act developed a lively discussion among those present and the idea of expert supervision was especially well received. Mrs. Evans read a number of the more important resolutions passed by the convention and spoke of the good that is expected to come from them. The reports of the various convener were not taken up but will be discussed at other meetings during the year. The meeting was delightfully entertained by a duet from Master Franklin Smith and Little Miss Arlene Christensen. Arlene also gave a reading. These youngsters have fine possibilities and are a credit to their instructor Mrs. Hazel McLean.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Emma Neilson, March 6. Mrs. Marie Malloy, convener for the Lethbridge district has been invited to be present.

Word has been received from the Department of Agriculture that the request for a course in Raffia work, made by the local Women's Bureau have asked for additional courses and hope they will be favorably received.

ALBERTA MOUTH HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Alberta already occupies a very enviable position among the Provinces of Canada from the standpoint of matters of health and education of the people in matters pertaining to their physical well being. Now it is proposed that the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council, working in cooperation with the Provincial Department of Health and Education, the Alberta Dental Association and the Alberta Red Cross Society, will carry the gospel of preventive dentistry to every man woman and child in a Province wide Campaign commencing February 17, 1930.

The most important time in the development of human teeth is before birth and during the first seven years of the child's life. Almost one hundred per cent. of the children and adults of to-day have decayed teeth and these are the primary causes of most of the serious diseases. In fact we have given our teeth too little concern.

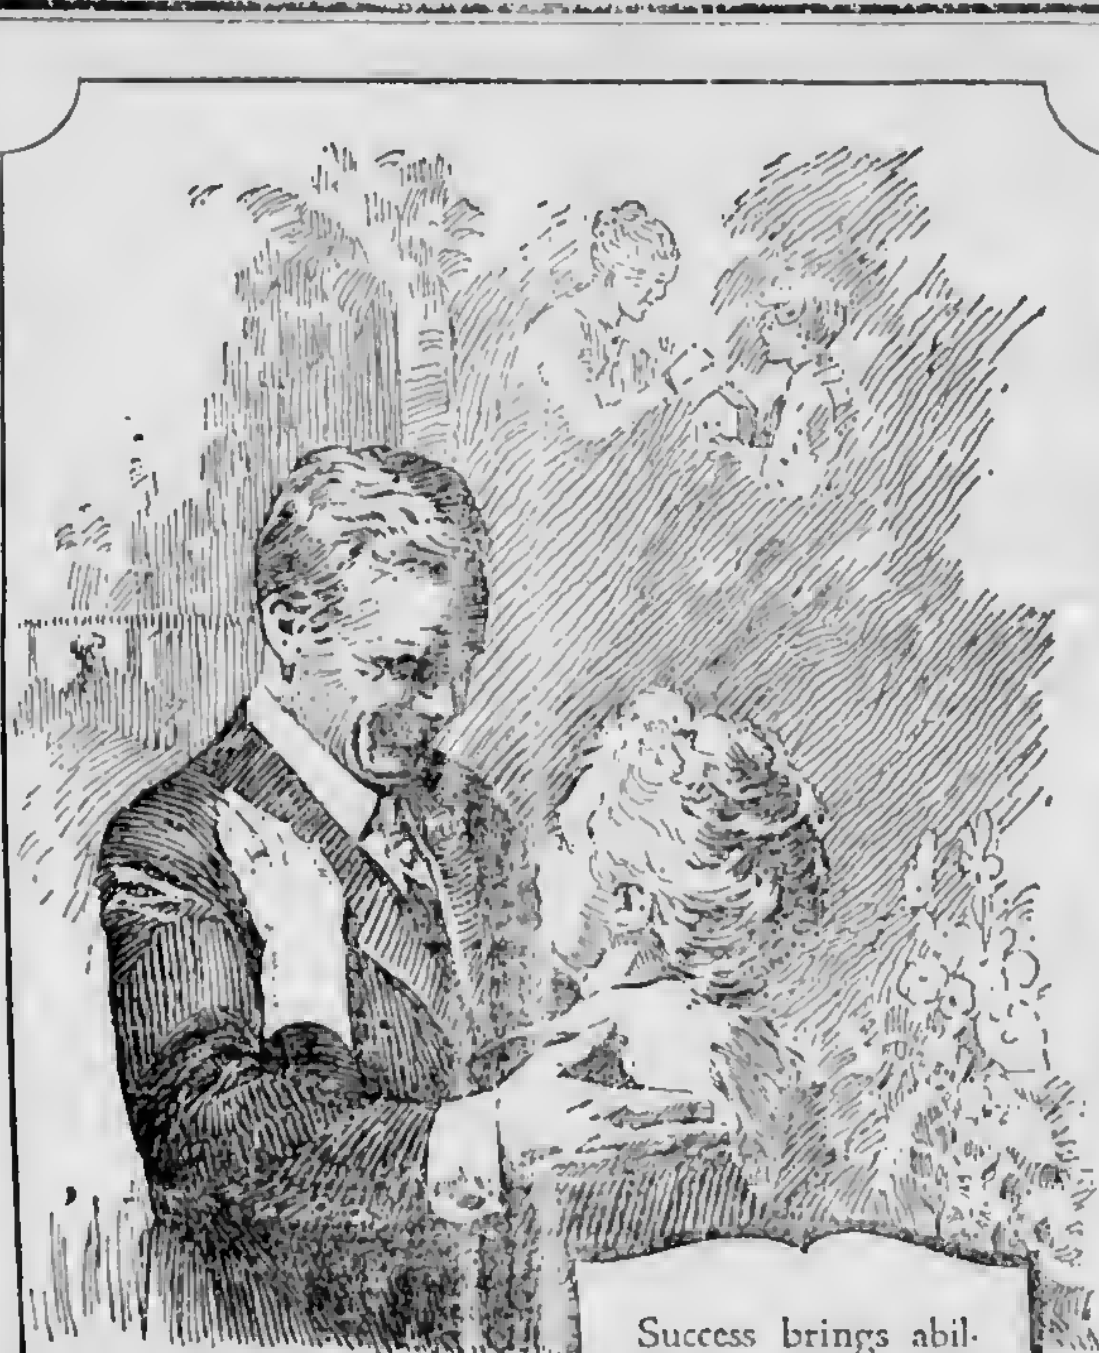

Preventive dentistry does not mean visits to the dentist's office. It means correct habits of living, balanced diet and proper attention to mouth cleanliness and oral hygiene. Speakers who can deal with these matters authoritatively will bring to the people of the Province what the scientists have discovered with regard to the importance of the care of the teeth of the growing child.

a monthly statement of the financial position of the government should be published in the Alberta Gazette. The Premier had already opposed the request because the revenues are seasonal; one month might show a large deficit and another a large surplus. Besides, a short statement would be of little value and anyway nobody reads the Alberta Gazette. Mr. Brownlee asked the members how many read the Gazette regularly and only Messrs. Shaw and Webster admitted it. Mr. Duggan's amendments asking a statement covering the period from March 31 to Dec. 31 each year was favorably received by the government. On Thursday Mr. Shaw (Bow Island) tied another line of attack when he advocated a reduction in automobile license fees. His resolution was defeated 42-5.

During the debate the Premier spoke of the difficulty of giving more service, spending more money, and reducing taxation all at once. He stated that liquor revenue had fallen 50 p.c. but that he expected between $150,000 and 200,000 from the natural resources the first year.

Many columns would be required to give an account of the many thoughtful speeches delivered during the week. The Member for Macleod (W. H. Shield) advocated a different system of water rates on the Lethbridge Northern since all land is not of equal value. He spoke in favor of retaining the Supp. Rev. Tax and asked for the removal of the 40-minute speech limit.

Chris. Pattison (Labor) is asking for the institution of state medicine and health insurance.

The Minister of Education has introduced the Floral Emblem Act to make the wild rose Alberta's official flower. This flower was the almost unanimous choice of the schoolchildren some years ago.

A bill to permit the hawking with out license of goods produced in Alberta will be of interest to municipal authorities.

G. A. Forster (Hand Hills) attacked the Farm Loan Board for blacklisting certain areas of the province. He alleged that farmers in the dry areas receive no consideration from the Board.

A rumor from Toronto that a federal election will be held on June 30 has somewhat complicated the election probabilities. The disadvantage of having two elections in one month is obvious. Mr. Brownlee keeps his own counsel; when questioned about an election date in the House he replied: "It may not be so very long before the government may have something to say as to that". The statement hardly commits the Premier to an election this year.

In the meantime the Liberal leadership is a matter for conjecture. Mr. Webster will not accept apparently and the supporters of W. R. Howson, prominent Edmonton Liberal, grow more assured.
